

Design Narrative

I have a lot of different social issues that I'm passionate about so I ended up creating a design for 3 issues. Though they could be considered 2 topics. Gun Control + Women's rights + issues. What a poster should say has always been a problem in my designs. With the gun control I knew I wanted a very dark posters with white text so that it stands out better. The first idea for women's rights was ~~the~~ sexual assault. For these I actually asked my sister her thoughts. I had the idea of "Believe them" but felt the poster needed something else. She gave me the statistic. My other issue with women's rights was the fact that the old white men in congress are making unfair laws about what a woman can and cannot do with her body. So my first thought was "get out" for that I didn't want a strong sans serif font like the other too. The idea of just a uterus I want something a bit more soft since it was an image of a uterus. I didn't really have a solid idea for a color, I just played around. I always go to freepik.com for images and illustrations.

Project C - Social Issues

- Women's reproductive rights <sup>control</sup>
  - should be private and no men should have a say.
- Climate change
  - renewal energy.
- Gun control laws.
  - no AR-15, no assault rifles.
They only intimidate and destroy.
  - No civilian should own an assault rifle.
